NIAS-UNDP Policy Research Initiative on Inequality and Human Development

Assistant Professor and Post-doctoral Associate

National Institute of Advanced Studies, a visionary initiative by J R D Tata, has a mandate to create leaders of substance and credibility in a variety of domains in India and to formulate policies, develop insights and carry out in-depth studies with the synergy of multi-disciplinary research in a wide spectrum of disciplines covering humanities, social sciences, education, culture, science, technology and consciousness. Please visit our website (www.nias.res.in) for a comprehensive perspective. NIAS works with the right degree of bureaucracy to enable faculty and scholars to attain satisfaction in their career even as they achieve substantial outcomes.

The NIAS-UNDP Policy Research Initiative on Inequality and Human Development aims to develop policy options based on a multidisciplinary conceptualization of inequality and to contribute towards public discourse to enable more informed policy choices. This policy research initiative based on multidisciplinary approaches will expand our ability to understand the dynamic effects that inequality has on other processes in society such as on growth, individual aspirations, and the rise of regional identities.

NIAS is looking for an Assistant Professor and a Post-doctoral Associate to strengthen the NIAS-UNDP Policy Research Initiative on Inequality and Human Development. The Assistant Professor would have two years' experience after a doctorate in a discipline relevant to the study of inequality and human development, and have the ability to analyse large data related to the Indian economy, society and polity. The Post-doctoral Associate would be a recent doctorate in a discipline relevant to the study of inequality and human development, Interested applicants should submit their curriculum vitae electronically, including the names and addresses of two referees, two samples of published work and a brief statement of interest explaining why they are interested in joining the programme, in a single PDF document.

The deadline for receiving applications is December 31, 2017. Short-listed candidates will be invited to NIAS for a presentation followed by an interview.

The faculty and research positions are contractual appointments. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience and comparable to other premier institutions in the country.
